ET CETERA

CULTURE BREAK

Five entertaining ways to kill time on the ground or in the clouds

1 BOOK

Emma Hooper's Etta and Otto and Russell and James is 2015's most anticipated debut. Eighty-three-year-old Etta awakes one morning with an impulse to see the ocean, setting out to walk across Canada, from her Saskatchewan farmhouse to the shores of Halifax. Meanwhile, Otto, the husband she leaves behind, takes an emotional trip as he reminisces about a life filled with friendship, war and missed opportunities. Available January 20. Kindle, iBooks, hardcover

2 ART

Spend your layover at Toronto Pearson with Amazon of the North, Eamon Mac Mahon's photo essay of Canada's boreal forest, also known as Canada's Amazon, which stretches from Newfoundland to the Yukon. Until June 2015. Terminal 1

3 MUSIC

Cover albums don't always fly, but there's no question Zoëy Deschanel, the "She" half of She & Him, was born to sing the standards—not to mention more modern favourites—found on Classics, the indie duo's new collection. iTunes

4 GAME

Forget Candy Crush; Crossy Road is your new addictive time-waster. It's Frogger reimagined for the mobile era, only more difficult and with boxy Lego-like graphics. App Store

5 MOVIE

Richard Linklater shot the critically acclaimed Boyhood over a span of 12 years, accomplishing something no other director has done in a single film: capturing the childhood of a fictional boy in real time. iTunes

MY CARRY-ONS

George Stroumboulopoulos, the new host of Hockey Night in Canada, shows us what's in his bag

"I'm listening to the National, Hayden and a lot of space-rock band Spiritualized."

"My go-to snacks for travelling are pistachios and pretzels. I like the vegan ones from Whole Foods."

"Currently, I'm hooked on watching episodes of The Killing, so flights have been pretty grim."

"I'm obviously reading a lot of hockey stuff right now, like Stephen Harper's A Great Game."
